

Supervisors' support sought for casino site

BY AMY PICKICH
Representatives from both sides of a proposed casino site off of Interstate 10 sought support from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday.

Supervisor Alton Kellar said the board could not determine the legality of the site, which is up to the State Gaming Commission.

The commission will meet next Tuesday in Jackson, to determine if the site is acceptable.

Katie Hester, Jackson attorney for those opposed to the proposed Mississippi Landing Casino site, said in order for the gaming site to be legal, the Jourdan River south of I-10 must be considered the Bay of St. Louis, which she said it is not.

"It's not an opposition to competition; it's against changing the rules," Hester said.

Hester said inland gaming has repeatedly been defeated by the legislature because it goes against the initial rules laid out by the Gaming Commission.

Area residents voiced opposition to the proposed casino, citing harm to wildlife and sewage problems they said would accompany the casino.

"We want the river to stay the river," said resident Tom Matthews, who presented the board with signatures of approximately 100 people opposed to the site.

State Representative J.P. Compretta and a casino representative thanked the board for their continued support on the matter and invited board members to attend the meeting in Jackson next Tuesday.

Pigeons adopt chick

Frances Serra of Bay St. Louis was shocked to learn the baby pigeon she had anxiously awaited was a chicken. Serra said her pigeons had made a nest under her home, which is on stilts. Apparently one of her chickens laid an egg in the nest. "The pigeon sat on it and hatched it," she said. Serra said now the other chickens won't go near "Baby" and "Baby" follows the pigeons around, thinking she is one of them. "The pigeons think it's their baby, too," said Serra. CTA reports use of Bay trolley is up

BY LIZ HAAS

From May to July, the Beachcomber System, operated by Coast Transit Authority, has transported 59,559 passengers, of which 3,439 rode on the Bay St. Louis Trolley.

The Beachcomber System had a total of 18,517 passengers in May, including 769 of which were Bay St. Louis Trolley passengers. In June, there were 19,327 passengers on the Beachcomber System, 956 of which rode the Bay St. Louis Trolley. In July 1,714 persons who rode the Bay St. Louis trolley contributed to the 21,715 total passengers on the Beachcomber system.

Keith Ballard, director of marketing and public relations for CTA said, "We're really pleased the ridership is growing in that area."

He said, "Not only are people using it inside of Bay St. Louis, but they are using it to come into the city."

CTA reports August has seen a daily average of 70 persons per day on the Bay St. Louis Trolley and a total of 720 persons per day on the Beachcomber System.

Stops in the Bay St. Louis area from the Pass Christian Station include Main Street, the Waveland Resort Inn and Casino Magic.

He said the city of Bay St. Louis has been very supportive.

"I think the trolley will tie in nicely with the Monday through Friday local bus service that is planned to begin in about a month for Bay St. Louis," said

Ballard.

He said the bus service would be to help locals, especially the elderly, who may not have transportation, get to the places in town they need to go.

CTA started running the transportation line in early

Man remains hospitalized after Shoreline Park fire

Ambrose Daigre, 66, of Shoreline Park remains in stable but guarded condition at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Gulfport after being rescued from a fire that destroyed his home early Monday.

The fire, which occurred at 5:45 a.m. at 10050 Tigris Street, began as a grease fire in the kitchen. It was totally involved when the fire department arrived, according to Hancock County Fire Marshall Richard Pate.

Neighbor Robert Ries, 39, broke his ankle after rescuing Daigre and his wife, Germaine, from the fire. Germaine was treated and released at Hancock Medical Center.

Ries had to jump from the burning house after the ladder that he used to rescue the couple fell.

"If it weren't for him (Ries), there would have been more serious injuries," said Pate. The fire was ruled accidental.

Only a test

Under the direction of Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, firemen experiment with a Jaws of Life extraction tool on a car donated by Moss Auto Salvage. The city recently purchased the new equipment for the department because of problems with the old one. Alderman Charles Scianna was also present. (Echo staff photo by Amy Pickich)

Area cleanup preparation underway

Bay curbside recycling program holds steady

BY LIZ HAAS

Gulf Coast Recycling, operators of the Bay St. Louis Recycles program, reported a steady rate of participation in the curbside recycling program since its start in April.

The first month participation rate was 65 percent compared to July's rate of 58 percent.

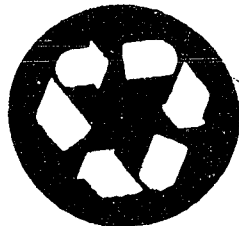

"I think the recycling program is being received very well in Bay St. Louis," said Penny Penrose, GCR executive director.

She said residents are cooperative and eager to recycle.

"We're really pleased for the opportunity to serve the citizens of Bay St. Louis and have received a very positive response," said Penrose.

The average, city-wide participation rate for July was 58 percent with the highest level of participation, 63 percent, from the Friday route.

Average pounds per set-out was 11.19.

Percent of total volume for items collected was 8.65 percent for metal cans, 62.21 percent for newspapers, 22.85 percent for glass, 3.25 percent for plastic soda and 3.04 percent for plastic milk jugs.

Total tons collected in July were 18.80 tons.

The recycling program saved 178 cubic yards of landfill space in the month of July.

Penrose said, "The participation level is very stable."

She said the primary thing that affects participation is the rain.

"One week a route had a 79 percent participation and 43 percent the next week when it rained, but the volume went up the next week," said Penrose.

She said the confusion people encountered with recycling at the beginning of the program is no longer present.

"People are now comfortable with what can be recycled and the proper way to do it. By and large, people are participating appropriately," she said.

RURAL RECYCLING

GCR, a non-profit recycling operation based in Gulfport, also started the Hancock County Rural Recycling Demonstration Project in May. Drop-off centers are located outside the south gate of John C. Stennis Space Center and the two county-run garbage compactor

She specifically asked for signs to protect children at play as well as those getting on and off school buses from serious harm.

The board agreed to pass the information onto the Sheriff's Department to work on the situation.

MCLEOD PARK

John Yalatese requested admittance of pets and cleanup of McLeod Park. As a recreational vehicle owner, he said he has traveled all over the United States and Canada and has never been to a park that did not allow dogs.

Supervisor Howard Lizana said that dogs are restricted because of previous problems; however, the board agreed to discuss the matter with the Park Commission.

Board vice-president Wilmer Seymour presided as president Michael Ladner was hospitalized following an operation.

In other business, the board approved: a request from Hancock County Fire Marshall Richard Pate to use $315 from the training fund to pay for 23 volunteer firemen to travel to Jackson for certification;

—the removal of Frank Ellis and Gerald Taylor from the payroll and the hiring of Harold W. Gaines and Melvin R. Brown;

—the full-time employment of Jesse Randy Green and Preston Ladner; —approval for two employees to receive a 25 cent pay raise that was initially overlooked;

—advertisement of bids for asphalt for short street overlays and for food for the Hancock County Jail;

—to take under advisement quotes for pollution control and for chemicals to remove weeds; —fence repair at Washington and Chapman at $700;

—water well drilling at $1,202;

—the payment of $233.15 for Sheriff's Department credit card expenses;

—the purchase of 15 barbeque grills at $849 and electrical boxes at $1,736.05 for McLeod State Park; of John Deere beach equipment at $11,000; of nails and treated boards for the Washington Street Bridge at $1,482.90; the purchase of a typewriter at $195; a disc drive at $499; of radios and batteries for Kiln-Delisle Fire Department at $2038.50.

After county payroll and Labor Day holiday approval, the board adjourned until September 7 at 9 a.m.

Labor Day closings scheduled

In celebration of Labor Day, all county and city offices will be closed Monday, September 6.

sites, at Washington and Chapman roads and at the North Barn at Kiln.

Since the project began, Hancock County residents have voluntarily deposited 58,414 pounds of recyclable materials. This has saved an estimated 169.12 cubic yards of landfill space.

The one-year rural recycling demonstration project is sponsored by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and funded by a grant from the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality.

At the close of the project year, Hancock County will evaluate the project and consider expanding the drop-off service. Penrose announced GCR is starting a recycling newsletter to send to its customers. September will be the first edition of the quarterly newsletter.

GCR is preparing to renew its contract with Bay St. Louis and is also assembling packets for other Coast municipalities who may be considering a recycling program.

Penrose said Bay block leaders were given an opportunity to critique the program and none did.

"They all had great things to say about the program," she said.

"We feel like the Bay St. Louis contract has given us a wonderful opportunity to prove ourselves," said Penrose.

She said, "We have created a new kind of model for the Coast with a Coast-based recycling company that keeps the recycling revenues in the local economy."

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The first week of local high school football is now history, and it appears Hancock Countians are in for some fine action this year.

Both Bay High and Hancock lost Friday night, the Tigers by three points and the Hawks by one point.

The good thing is, both teams were playing teams in a conference above them, and they let the bigger teams know they were in a survival game.

Both Bay High and Hancock could have been a winner in the close losses in the bigger conference last week.

It appears we will be seeing some very good high school football competition this season.

Hancock High this week will play their first game of the season at home when they play host to George County.

If the game against Biloxi is any indication of Hancock's power, the Hawks should once again be flying high under the leadership of veteran head coach Irvin Favre.

The Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will try to get on the winning track Friday night when they travel to Oak Grove.

The Rocks appeared unable to get off track last week against a very strong and big Northeast Jones.

Rock head mentor Ken Lyons hopes to have Stanislaus ready for Oak Grove and bring victory number one of the season home.

The Tigers of Bay High have an open week and are making preparations for their encounter with the neighbors across the Bay, Pass Christian on Sept. 10.

The Tigers gave Picayune a scare last week, falling only by a field goal.

Bay High, too, will give fans some exciting football in the 1993 season.

High school football teams need your support. Give it to them by attending the games.

Hancock High is the only game at home this week. I am hoping the stands will be filled with fans.

The supporters of Stanislaus will have a longer drive, as Oak Grove is located in the Hattiesburg area.

I hope there will be a large number of Rock supporters in the stands on Friday.

See you at the game Friday night.

I received a telephone call from a resident of New Orleans complaining about the very high grass and weeds in St. Mary Cemetery.

The lady reported that she came over to visit the grave site of family members. The grass and weeds were so high, she said she was unable to reach the grave sites.

She further mentioned most of the grave sites were high with grass and weeds.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Choose or lose

As school begins for the year, many children are excited about the return, while others are nervous. Some just plain don't want to go.

Of course, the parents are mixed in their feelings about the beginning of the school year. Many are ready to get the kids back into a routine and out of the house. Some are sad to send their little ones off to school for the first time.

Then there are the parents who are concerned about the education their children are receiving. And, in the flip side, there are the parents who couldn't care less about their children's educational process.

Two distinctively different groups of parents, the concerned and the indifferent, can both benefit from one solution — having a choice.

A few days ago at the Neshoba County Fair, Governor Kirk Fordice announced his plans to give the state local-option public school choice. The governor stated that it was time for "moms and dads to have the right to vote" on the future of their schools. He said that the state's children are in jeopardy as long as the state is making the decisions in public school education.

The Mississippi Economic Council agrees with the governor on choice. The council has said a choice program would create competition within the public school system, which would lead to improved education.

MEC's extensive research of choice programs around the nation showed that parents are more involved when they can select the schools their children attend. This is a simple solution that will benefit both the concerned and the indifferent parents.

The concerned will finally have a voice in the matter, and the indifferent will be an opportunity to stand up for their rights and their children's rights.

It is time for Mississippi to implement a local-option public school choice program. The MEC has recommended that a pilot program be started in the state, allowing Mississippians at least to try this method of improving public school education.

If choice is not implemented in the state, it will be just one more loss due to the fear of trying something new.

It's time to choose or lose.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Keep Waveland beach free from dockside gambling

If you have ever fished off the Waveland Pier, swam in the waters of our bay, basked in the sun with a loved one, or simply strolled the beachfront at dawn...

Then you have seen our "treasured jewel."

I ask you to reminisce to the memories that our "jewel" helped create and realize that a Waveland alderman's proposal could make our "jewel" just that, a memory.

One of the aldermen has proposed that the city study the pros and cons of dockside gambling. He also proposed that one likely site for gambling is at the foot of Coleman Avenue.

You must realize that the "jewel" as we see it would never be the same. You may say, "it's only a proposal." To that I say, "Casino Magic was a proposal. Cedar Point and Henderson Point are proposals."

Waveland residents go look at your "jewel" and savor its beauty. Don't let it become a memory. We need our "jewel" to shine in our future. It's our "treasured jewel" we have a say in its future! Let your feelings be known at your next city council meeting. You are the jewel's voice.

Neighborhood Security Act

For the last several years, Congress has turned crime bills into criminal protection and gun control bills. That's the wrong way to fight crime.

Congress can no longer ignore the real problem. America must have a tough, comprehensive anti-crime plan that puts criminals in jail and makes our streets, neighborhoods and schools safer.

I've already introduced two pieces of crime legislation this year — the Lifer Bill, which imposes life imprisonment to three-time violent offenders, and the National Triad Act, which helps protect our seniors through group alliances — to help abate the crime that has made it unsafe for many Americans to walk the streets of their own neighborhoods. Most recently, I joined a number of my colleagues in co-sponsoring the Neighborhood Security Act, which would be a positive step in dealing with criminals and making our streets and homes safer.

Here are the hard, cold facts: five million Americans are victims of violent crime each year; there are 19 million crimes against property each year; there is a murder every 12 minutes, a rape every five minutes, a robbery every 46 seconds, and an assault every 29 seconds in this country.

The United States has more crime per capita than any other developed country. It is estimated that half of all Americans will become victims of violent crime sometime during their lifetime. The numbers don't lie — we must deal with this problem now.

One of the ways this bill will help accomplish our goal of reducing crime is by putting and keeping criminals behind bars. The Bureau of Justice Statistics reports that violent criminals are sentenced to an average prison term of seven years, 11 months. However, they actually serve an average of only two years, 11 months.

I find these statistics alarming and the human suffering unacceptable. This bill would provide tougher penalties and sentencing, and more prisons to keep criminals locked up after they are caught.

This bill also gets tough on drugs. It addresses the problems of drug trafficking, prevention, and treatment. Unlike some other so-called crime bills, it also recognizes the drug problem in rural areas in states like Mississippi. It speeds help to state drug officials through the establishment of rural crime and drug enforcement task forces.

There are many other good provisions in the bill to help with our fight against crime. In addition, it will not require a tax increase or an increase in the deficit because our legislation provide for spending cuts in other federal programs to cover the $6.285 billion cost of the crime package.

I will continue to work with my colleagues to push this through the Congress so we can put in place a national strategy to battle crime. The Neighborhood Security Act will put more officers on the streets, more criminals in the jails, and make our schools safer for our children.

Kirk Fordice

Mississippians can "make it work"

Mississippi's working. More Mississippians are working now than ever before, and this mess called "state government" is beginning to work for you, too — yet we have so much more to do. We're ready to work again in the 1994 Legislative Session with TEAM Mississippi. We kicked off TEAM Mississippi last August at the Neshoba County Fair as the first citizen lobbying effort of its kind in the nation.

TEAM Mississippi is a legislative agenda and citizen organization backed by an interactive toll-free number which matches citizens with issue information, a list of their local legislators and phone numbers, and voting updates — all in an effort to allow Mississippians to become their own lobbyists. Already more than 11,000 people from all parts of the state have enlisted in the effort.

TEAM Mississippi celebrated its first anniversary earlier this month with the announcement of the 1994 legislative agenda at the Neshoba County Fair. This agenda was formed by issue ballots and Mississippi town hall meetings across the state that were attended by thousands of Mississippians like you. The TEAM Mississippi agenda will address five policy areas that Mississippians indicated over the last several months were important to them. Here are some of our issues:

EDUCATION — STUDENTS FIRST

* Local Option Public School Choice for Parents — empowering Mississippi parents, by local option votes, to choose for themselves the best public school for their children to attend.

* A Performance Pay Plan for Teachers — a voluntary program that monetarily and professionally rewards Mississippi's good teachers based on an objective scale which includes student performance in the classroom.

* Mandatory Caps on Administrative Spending — mandating that only a small percentage of a school district's total budget can be spent on administrative bureaucracy, hereby allowing more money to be spent on students.

* The Mississippi Opportunity Grants — guaranteeing a four-year tuition grant to any Mississippi college or university for students from low income families who maintain a high grade point average and good conduct during high school.

* Second Phase Funding of Teacher Insurance — completing the measure started last year to fully fund our state's teachers' insurance so they are no longer the only state government employees without coverage.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

* The Mississippi Tax Revolt of 1993: Raise Personal Exemption on State Income Tax by $3,500 — giving much-needed tax relief to all Mississippians who have not seen a tax break since 1979, while at the same time spurring more economic growth in the state.

* The Mississippi Bridge Rehabilitation Program — setting aside surplus dollars every year to improve structural deterioration to Mississippi's worst bridges that have been left unattended for decades.

PUBLIC SAFETY

* Construction/Privatization/Alternative Incarceration — supporting methods, whether by construction of a new prison, saving through correctional privatization or using alternative forms of incarceration, to eventually have space for at least 3,000 more inmates in the Mississippi correctional system by the year 2000.

* More Law and Drug Enforcement Personnel — completing last year's legislation which addressed Mississippi's drug trafficking problem by adding 36 more Highway Patrol Officers and 12 more narcotics agents.

WELFARE REFORM

* The Mississippi "Welfare to Work" Plan — achieving federal waivers and legislative approval to exchange welfare recipient benefits for industry jobs and wages.

* Require Proof of Paternity — require that all Mississippi birth certificates include the father's name and Social Security number in order to give Mississippi assistance in tracking "dead-beat dads."

GOVERNMENT REFORM

* Open Primaries — giving Mississippians the right to vote for whomever they choose and not be bound by restrictive guidelines which allow for only one-party voting.

* Term Limits — limiting the number of terms individuals can serve in government — 12 years for legislators and 8 years for statewide elected executive officials.

This government is not going to take these bold steps by itself. Mississippians must make it work — you must make it work. Join in the Mississippi debate by calling 1-800-TEAM-1-2-3.

Jefferson Symphony Orchestra returns to Diamondhead with pops concert September 12

Special to the Echo
Conductor Dennis Assaf has produced the unexpected—a concert musical comedy—with a supernatural scenario, a "James Dean" Elvis-type hero, and music ranging from Doo-wop to Beethoven.

Titled, "Denny Discovers Da Auschestra," it is a scripted show fusing standard classics with classic rock and roll of the 50's and 60's. The vocal "doo-wops" have a full symphony backup. And herein lies the tale. Denny, our hero, is killed on his motorcycle. But heaven can wait. Denny must be on Earth to perform in a charity concert for the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society. There's a hitch.

The powers that be can only see one way to grant his wish. He must replace an aging symphony conductor in Italy who is going to die on the podium.

Only six months to study conducting before leaving heaven to begin his mission, can he do it?

Will Denny D'Italia make his way from Europe to Diamondhead in time to do the charity concert? Of course. And it is the best rock and roll to be heard anywhere.

Sunday, September 12 will find Assaf's Jefferson Symphony Orchestra paying tribute to Buddy Holly, Dion and the Belmonts and Smokey Robinson. But those celestial shenanigans in the plot also allow for the music of the masters, Tchaikovsky, Rossini, Beethoven and many others.

The concert is a presentation of Diamondhead Performing Arts Society. Curtain time is 7 p.m. Tickets are $12.50 adults (includes one drink) $9.50 children under 13. For information call Carol Novak, 255-6042.

Tickets may be purchased by sending check and stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Diamondhead Performing Arts Society, Post Office Box 6028, Diamondhead, MS 39525 or purchased at Diamondhead Discount Drugs, 4402 East Aloha Drive, Diamondhead. No tickets sold at door.

Director Assaf has extensive credits

Dennis Assaf, founder and executive/artistic director of the Jefferson Performing Arts Society has conducted orchestras and choruses in Florida, South Carolina, New Jersey and New York.

He created and conducts the Jefferson Symphony Orchestra with whom he appeared on national television with CBS and PBS.

Assaf's broad musical talents are not limited to conducting and his original musical productions are enjoying an ever widening audience in Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida.

He earned a bachelor of music degree from Loyola University and a master of music in conducting from the University of New Orleans.

"Americana" concert offered by Bay Chorale

LABOR DAY

Bring your chairs, ground covers, picnic things over to the Memorial Park in Pass Christian on Labor Day Sept. 6 afternoon for a free concert "Americana" by the Bay Area Chorale. Those voices are tuning up and other entertainment is planned, so it promises to be a great holiday.

AARP NOTICE

The first meeting of the new season on Tuesday, Sept. 7 at 3 p.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center will be an informative one.

The program will be presented by "Hurricane Hunters" 403 Airlift Wing from Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi.

Remember that this organization's service project is the food pantry. Please bring an item to the meeting, which will be of interest to everyone.

SENIORS

Bring a friend and join the ladies who meet at the Diamondhead Dairy Queen every Friday, 8:30 a.m. to go to the Bay St. Louis Senior Citizens Center for crafts, painting, and a nice hot lunch.

The bus returns to the Dairy Queen about 1:15 p.m. If you need transportation to the Dairy Queen, please call Margaret at 255-1317. It's fun!

GOOD FOOD

Why not do lunch at the Tiki Lounge grill in the Diamondhead Country Club. Sandwich menu is served from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Great soup or chili with various salads is served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. for $4.95. Come on out and support your club.

YACHT CLUB

Our yacht club hosts invite all for "specials" at dinner time (check your flyers in the mailbox) and lunch and brunch on Saturday and Sunday. Hopefully, they can be open again for lunch during the week soon. Such a great view!

TENNIS, ANYONE?

DIAMONDHEAD'S LADY

A sweet and gentle animal was abandoned and mistreated and roamed Diamondhead for 18 months or more. Through the determined, kind and humane efforts of John and Helen Wise, "Lady" is yearning for affection and a kind touch, and wants to be adopted. Surely there is someone out there with a big heart and a large fenced-in yard who will give her a home. It will mean so much to all of the volunteers at the Diamondhead SPCA shelter and the Wises who rescued and gave Lady help and human companionship to know that their efforts have not been in vain.

Please call 255-7680. It cannot be said enough — please spay or neuter your pets to protect them from Lady's fate. And bless you, John and Helen.

MY THOUGHTS

Do not remind someone of a kindness or act of generosity you show him or her. Do a favor and then forget it.

Have a safe and happy Labor Day weekend.

New initiative law takes effect for constitutional amendment

Mississippians who want to propose changes in the state constitution now have a way to do that — initiative — which gained final approval for the U.S. Justice Department on Aug. 3.

But Secretary of State Dick Molpus said bringing about constitutional change may not be very easy: "This new law gives some power back to the voters, but its rules are complicated and the requirements so strict that I'm not sure if we will see much change come from it."

During the 1992 and 1993 legislative sessions, Molpus promoted different proposals to allow citizens to propose constitutional amendments and general laws, as well as referendum or veto over laws passed by the Legislature.

Now Molpus' office is the agency in charge of registering initiative proposals and in helping citizens understand the rules. Also involved are the Attorney General's Office, which participates in wording the initiative and the ballot language, and the Legislative Budget Office, which analyzes the proposal's financial impact on state government.

GUIDES, FORMS AVAILABLE

Molpus said his office has prepared a guide for persons interested in proposing constitutional amendments, initiative registration forms, a model petition form, and campaign certified signatures on petitions.

—If the required number of signatures are secured, the initiative proposal is submitted to the Legislature for consideration. If the Legislature approves the initiative or takes no action, the initiative appears on the next general election for "This new law gives some power back to the voters, but its rules are complicated and the requirements so strict that I'm not sure if we will see much change come from it."

finance disclosure forms. For a copy of the guide, call 601-359-6357.

In general, the initiative process works this way:

—A citizen conceives an idea for a change in the constitution and develops a written text for the change.

—After registering the written initiative, the citizen gathers the required number of the people to either approve or reject.

However, if the Legislature amends the initiative proposal, voters must then choose between the amended alternative, the original proposal, or cast a vote rejecting both. If enough voters approve the initiative, it becomes law.

This provision of legislative consideration makes Mississippi's initiative law the "indirect" type, which its supporters say has the potential for increasing informed public debate about the issues raised by the initiative.

RULES MUST BE FOLLOWED

Among the rules for an initiative, its supporters must:

—Submit a typewritten copy of the initiative proposal to the Secretary of State.

—Collect signatures only in the form prescribed by the law. Sample forms are provided by the Secretary of State's Office.

—Until 1996, collect a minimum of 85,345 certified signatures on petitions with at least 17,069 certified signatures coming from each of the five congressional districts.

—Include the amount and source of money required to implement the constitutional amendment.

—Have signatures certified by the circuit clerk in whose county the signers are qualified voters.

—Register the proposal with the Secretary of State's Office and pay a $500 filing fee.

To win passage, the constitutional change must receive more than just a majority of the votes cast on the issues — it must receive a "supermajority" or 40 percent of all the votes cast on election day.

Initiative sponsors and persons making independent expenditures for or against proposals must file campaign finance reports with the Secretary of State's Office.

Headstart needs contributions

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay-Waveland Headstart Program is attempting to raise funds to purchase items not funded by government monies.

Spokesman Velma Frederick said, "Our center located in the old St. Rose de Lima school needs fans, air conditioners, desks, chairs and even file cabinets."

Any in-kind contributions would be appreciated, as government funding does not provide for such items, Frederick said.

Donations are tax deductible.

The Bay-Waveland Headstart Program provides services for some 160 youngsters ages 3 and 4 years old.

The current session for the Headstart program will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 7 and go through May, 1994.

Frederick said there always is a waiting list for students, and the quota for new year is already filled.

Students are at the facility from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and are picked up and delivered by a special Headstart bus.

Persons interested in making contributions can call Frederick or Glendell Hall at 467-4385.

Telephone Pioneers donate bears to children

In 1988 the Gulf Sands Club, the retired Telephone Pioneers, which is a part of the Gulf Coast Council of Telephone Pioneers, started the Huggie Bear Program. Since that time, they have made and distributed more than 10,000 huggie bears to organizations dealing with traumatized children. Any organization needing huggie bears may contact Ruth Chinn, Gulf Coast president, at 863-0212 or Jay Lagasse at 452-9415. They recently donated huggie bears to the Waveland Police Department. Camelot postponed

The National Tour of Lerner and Loewe's Camelot starring Robert Goulet, originally opening at The Saenger Theatre on September 14 through September 19, will be postponed until June 14-19, 1994.

The postponement was necessary after Robert Goulet went in for a routine physical examination and it was discovered that it would be necessary for him to undergo minor corrective surgery.

All tickets held for this show will be transferred to these play dates.

Mr. Goulet will resume the national tour in New Haven on October 5, 1993.

Hillyer House, 207 E. Scenic Drive, Pass Christian, offers September exhibits: Harbor Series' watercolors by Barbara Wing; 'Crabs' sculpture sea life pottery glazes by Matt Brabham of Florida; Handblown glass jewelry by Carolyn Grane of Washington.

Anderson Museum now open seven days a week

On view at the Walter Anderson Museum of Art beginning Friday, August 20, are two new exhibitions. The first entitled, "New Acquisitions from The John S. and James L. Knight Foundation" highlights Anderson's masterful use of line and the seven basic motifs found in plants and animals.

And whether you are a fan of bugs or not, don't miss the concurrent Anderson exhibition, "The Rhythms of Insects." Sponsored by Am South Termite & Pest Control, come see for yourself, this show is a colorful observation of insects. On loan from The Family of Walter Anderson, this 50-piece exhibition showcases Anderson's fascination with these tiny creatures alone and within their habitat. These watercolors include grasshoppers, butterflies, moths, beetles, and much more.

An educational treat is in store for the entire family who wants to learn more about insects on Saturday, August 21 from 3-5 p.m. when entomologist and public information officer Wayne Machado and Terry Rittner of Mississippi Mosquito Control give an adult exhibition gallery talk at 3 p.m., followed by fun discussion and dialogue on bugs for children at 4 p.m.

Saturday's events are open to the public with regular museum admission, and free to members. Admission is $3 for adults, $1 for children between 6 and 12, and under 6 free. Tour groups receive a discount. Call two weeks in advance for reservations.

The museum is now open seven days a week. This policy change results from a significant number of out-of-town guests who want to visit on Monday.

The museum's hours are now Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 1-5 p.m. The museum is funded in part from a grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission, the state agency of the National Endowment for the Arts.

Montana's dinner benefits Habitat for Humanity

Harrison County Habitat for Humanity will host a fund-raiser dinner at Montana's Bar-B-Que and Seafood restaurant on Labor Day, Monday, September 6. The dinner will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be buffet style featuring Montana's roast round of beef, smoked spareribs, Cajun sausage, shrimp scampi and Cajun jambalaya. Cost is a $10 donation for adults and $7 for children 12 and under. All proceeds will benefit the work of Habitat for Humanity in Harrison County.

Habitat for Humanity is a non-denominational Christian housing ministry dedicated to the elimination of substandard housing in the community. Those in need of decent housing who cannot afford a home through conventional means work in partnership with Habitat volunteers to build decent homes.

The recipient is expected to put in at least 500 hours of sweat equity before receiving a home and is then given a zero interest mortgage for the material cost of their home.

This results in a low house note making decent housing a reality to those who would otherwise find it impossible to achieve.

Payments made to Habitat by home owners are then used to build for others. Harrison County Habitat recently dedicated its 4th home and has a 5th under construction in Pass Christian to benefit a family whose home was destroyed by fire and had no insurance.

other groups to pick up litter from one end of the county to the other and from East to West," Cuevas said.

Registration will be from 8 to 9 a.m., Ashman said. Following the cleanup, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. there will be hot dogs and cokes on the beach at the foot of the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier, Waveland for participants in the cleanup.

Basil Kennedy, owner of Financial Services, Inc., will place a $20 certificate in a special piece of trash to be claimed at the gathering at the end of cleanup. The lucky person will receive a $20 bill.

Individuals, groups, organizations, industries, clubs, schools, businesses and any interested parties are urged and welcome to participate, Ashman said.

Among those participating are GE Plastics, Diamondhead Business & Professional Organization, Diamondhead Rotary Club, North Hancock County

Business Association, Bay High's Rotary Interact Club, Johnson Controls (Stennis Space Center), Lil' Ray's, Christ Episcopal Church, Hancock County Chapter NAACP, St. Ann's CVO, SSC Key Club, The OLG Singles group, chamber members and many others.

Those in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county who have adopted a street or highway are also urged to clean their adopted area on Sept. 18, Ellis Cuevas, chamber beautification chairman said.

Carol Vegas, chamber anti-litter chairman reported, "There is a greater and greater awareness of the problem in the area of litter among our citizens. Many more people are actively participating in solving the problem, and we are grateful for everyone."

Persons seeking further information can call the chamber at 467-9048, Ashman at 467-5496 or Cuevas, 467-5473.

ON PATROL

BOMB SCARE

Roderick Dwayne Robertson was arrested after playing a practical joke of a bomb threat on a fellow employee, and he faces felony charges that could give him up to five years in the state penitentiary, according to Sheriff's Investigator Matt Karl.

NASA security officials contacted the Hancock County Sheriff's Office on Tuesday, August 31, after a B & W Service Inc. employee at NASA reported a note he found in one of the government vehicles.

"It read, 'I placed a bomb under your van. If you crank it, you will be blown to pieces,'" reported Karl.

Investigators George Bursleson and Karl went to the scene and evacuated the B & W Services building 2126 at NASA.

"In the search of the van and the area, we could not locate any devices," said Karl.

Karl said the U.S. Army Explosive Ordinance Disposal of Camp Shelby was called in.

"They did a mechanical search and declared everything safe, so went sent the people back to work," said Karl.

Karl reported later in the day, when Robertson came on duty, he heard the other employees talking about the bomb threat and turned himself in to security.

"He told them it was a joke he wanted to play on a fellow worker," said Karl.

Karl said, "Joke or no joke, NASA didn't think it was funny." Robertson, 24, of Pass Christian, was arrested and charged with a false report of placing explosives. He was placed in the Hancock County Justice Facility under a $1,500 bond and was released after making bond.

The FBI was also contacted in the matter.

Karl said the maximum penalty for such a charge, which is a felony, is five years in the state penitentiary.

SHOPLIFTING/AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

Anthony Neal Fant, 45, of Gulfport, was arrested August 31 by Waveland police for shoplifting and aggravated assault, according to Chief Jimmy Varnell.

Varnell reported Fant tried to shoplift four cartons of cigarettes from Walmart by putting them down his pants. When a store employee confronted him he pulled out a small knife on a key chain.

"The employee grabbed the knife from Fant. They were near his car at the time, and Fant took a baseball bat out of his car and struck the employee, who was hit on his left wrist while trying to block the hit," said Varnell.

The employee then took the bat and held Fant until police arrived. Arresting officer was patrolman Kevin McIntosh.

Fant, charged with shoplifting and aggravated assault, was incarcerated in the Hancock County Justice Facility under a $1,500 bond.

His court date was set for September 16, at 2 p.m.

Explorer program set for youths

The Bay St. Louis Police Department and the law enforcement Explorers are about to make available a very special and selective program for young people interested in law enforcement careers.

Interested youths can participate in field trips, hands-on learning experiences, and social events. Also law enforcement professionals can guide participants in career decisions.

The group will meet Monday, September 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Crime Prevention Unit of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, 310 Old Spanish Trail.

At this meeting, law enforcement officers will answer questions, explain the program in more detail, and give youths the opportunity to join. The one-time fee for registration, insurance and uniform is $20.00. Once accepted, one can participate for the entire year for no additional cost.

The size of the program is limited. Call 467-9921, ext. 23, between 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. to make a reservation for the Monday meeting.

Trolley

May.

The Beachcomber line runs daily from Bay St. Louis to Point Cadet, Biloxi.

Beachcomber trolleys connect with CTA Bus Routes at L&N Depot, Edgewater Mall and Point Cadet.

Trolleys run every 40 minutes between Gulfport and Biloxi and every 80 minutes from Gulfport to Pass Christian and Pass Christian to Bay St. Louis.

CTA conducted a survey asking passengers of the Coast Beachcomber System, both residents and visitors, the primary purpose of their trip.

The survey revealed: 74 percent of visitors ride for social/recreational reasons while only 34 percent of residents do so; 9 percent of visitors ride for work, while 32 percent of residents ride for work; 10 percent of visitors ride for shopping/dining and 25 percent of residents ride for those reasons; leaving 7 percent of both visitors and residents riding for other reasons.

"We didn't anticipate the number of people that would ride the bus to work, but it is good for us. The tourists come and go, but this is a step in the right direction to ensure we have a local base for our services," said Ballard.

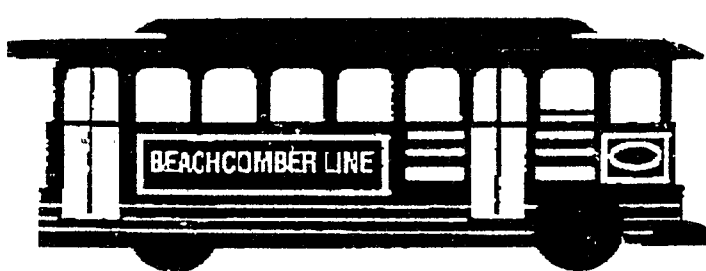

The survey also reported that the majority of residents surveyed, 31 percent, ride the Beachcomber more than five times a week.

An all-day pass costs $2. Regular fare is $1 and children six and under ride free when accompanied by an adult.

Beachcomber Trolleys are also available for conventions and special events by calling 896-8080.

Ballard said, "We're going to continue to keep track of the services and can expand as needed as development continues in the Bay St. Louis area."

National Environmental Policy Act Finding of No Significant Impact; Small Satellite Hybrid Rocket Motor Testing at Stennis Space Center

AGENCY: National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)

ACTION: Finding of No Significant Impact

SUMMARY: Pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), the Council on Environmental Quality Regulations for Implementing the Procedural Provisions of NEPA (40 CFR Parts 1500-1508), and NASA's Procedures for Implementing NEPA (14 CFR 1216.3), NASA has made a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) with respect to the planned testing of small hybrid rocket motors at Stennis Space Center, Mississippi. The FONSI is based on information supplied in the Environmental Assessment prepared by American Rocket Company (AMRCO) for NASA. Testing of small burn rate (1,000 pound thrust) and 10,000 pound thrust hybrid motors will be conducted at the Component Test Facility (CTF) at John C. Stennis Center, located in Hancock County, Mississippi. Only minor facility room modification of the CTF is necessary to conduct testing.

DATE: Comments in response to this notice must be received in writing within 30 days of 31 August 1993.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be submitted to Ronald G. Magee, NASA Environmental Officer, Code GA00, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529-6000; Telephone (601) 688-7384. The Environmental Assessment (EA) for American Rocket Company's Hybrid Rocket Motor Testing which support this FONSI may be reviewed at:

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
Ronald G. Magee, NASA Environmental Officer, Code GA00, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529-6000; Telephone (601) 688-7384.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: NASA has reviewed the Environmental Assessment prepared by American Rocket Company for hybrid rocket motor testing and has determined that it represents an accurate and adequate analysis of the scope and level of associated environmental impacts. The EA is incorporated by reference in this FONSI.

American Rocket Company, in a joint research effort with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), is proposing to conduct testing of small hybrid rocket motors. The testing program will consist of a "burn rate" hybrid motors (1,000 lb) and 10,000 lb (10K) thrust motors at the existing Component Test Facility (CTF) at the John C. Stennis Space Center (SSC), located in Hancock County, Mississippi. Burn rate and 10K motor testing are economical and efficient methods for the development of larger scale hybrid propulsion systems. The data from the burn rate testing program will assist in designing larger thrust commercial hybrid rockets. Only minor modification of the existing CTF is required to perform testing. No new construction or ground breaking is necessary and no mechanical, electrical and fluid equipment will be modified or reconfigured for testing.

Alternatives considered include the No Action Alternative (i.e., no testing) and alternative sites located at Stennis Space Center. Cancellation of the project would result in the loss of essential scientific information relative to hybrid motor testing and development.

The hybrid motors proposed for testing consist of propellant made of hydroxy-terminated polybutadiene (HTPB), a rubber material, and an oxidizer (either gaseous oxygen or liquid oxygen). Burn rate motors are gaseous oxygen fed motors while 10K motors are liquid oxygen fed motors. Typical testing durations are 20 seconds for a burn rate motor and 45 seconds for a 10K motor. Maximum annual testing rates at SSC are 100 burn rate motors per year and 10 10K motors per year.

The environmental impacts identified as a result of the testing program are limited to the release of small amounts of combustion byproducts from the propellant and consist of carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, hydrogen, water and trace amounts of hydrocarbons. For the 10K motors, small amounts of aluminum oxide will be released as a result of the ignition source. NASA will obtain the air permit for this activity with the agency regulatory agencies. Wastewater generated from testing from noncontact cooling of the nozzle with water that does not come into direct contact with the nozzle will be collected and stored in a tank and not be directly discharged to surface water.

The proposed site of testing is at an existing facility and not located in wetlands or floodplains. No threatened or endangered species, critical habitats, historical or cultural resources will be affected by the project. No other matters of potential environmental concern have been identified. Under planned operation of the facility, no significant effects to the environment are anticipated.

On the basis of the EA and underlying references, NASA has determined that the environmental impacts associated with this project will not individually or cumulatively have a significant effect on the quality of the environment. Therefore, an environmental impact statement is not required. NASA will take no final action or authorize testing activities prior to the expiration of the 30-day comment period.

College Football Highlights

For Sept. 4

The opening weekends of the college football season are known for wider point spreads than usual, with many of the major college powers scheduling what might best be described as warmup games.

One matchup that falls under that heading is between last year's consensus national champion, Sugar Bowl winner Alabama, and Tulane in Birmingham. The green Wave may regret adding the Crimson Tide to its schedule the past two seasons, because in the two games they've played, Alabama has scored 99 points (62 in 1991 and 37 last year) and Tulane hasn't scored one. We're confident, however, that Tulane will score its first touchdown against Alabama — which will score six.

Other not-so-tough tasks face Florida State and Notre Dame. The Seminoles, who worked out their preseason jitters and kinks last weekend against Kansas, meet the Duke Blue Devils, whom they trounced 48-21 last year. And Notre Dame won't have much trouble with Northwestern; in '92 the Irish pounded the Wildcats 42-7.

There are better games this weekend. Miami, which lost to Alabama in that surprising 1993 Sugar Bowl, may have its hands full against Boston College. We're picking Miami by 16, but the margin will depend on whether the B.C. Eagles play the way they did early in '92 (three shutouts in their first four winning games) or later in the season (three losses in their last four games). It could be close.

Our pick for the game of the week is Mississippi's visit to Auburn on Thursday night. Last season the Rebels spanked the Tigers 45-21, and Mississippi finished well ahead of Auburn in the southeastern Conference's West division, but to us the teams look much more evenly matched. In an upset, we're going with Auburn, in a game that has all the makings of a late-in-the-season, blood-and-guts battle.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday
Sept. 5-6

Buffalo, 31—New England, 13

Buffalo has won five straight season openers and three AFC titles in a row, but the Pats' new coach, Bill Parcells, may fire them up enough to keep it close. Bills won both '92 matchups.

Chicago, 24—N.Y. Giants, 21

More new coaches: Dave Wannstedt takes over in Chicago and Dan Reeves in N.Y. The Bears and Giants have been trading wins since 1987, and it's Chicago's turn, though it's a near-toss-up.

Cleveland, 21—Cincinnati, 16

The Browns and Bengals spent the 1992 season looking up from the bottom of the AFC Central, but at least they gave each other some competition: Each won this matchup in their home stadium.

Denver, 28—N.Y. Jets, 25

No longer butting heads with Dan Reeves, John Elway finally may help the Broncos bust loose. Boomer Esiason has an uphill fight to make the Jets winners. Denver won last year, 27-16.

Detroit, 20—Atlanta, 18

The Lions have beaten the Falcons the last four times they've played, but, then again, Detroit has lost its last four season openers. Lucky Atlanta has one of the NFL's toughest schedules.

Green Bay, 27—L.A. Rams, 19

On their way to a respectable 9-7 record in the NFC Central last year, the Packers beat the Rams 28-31. L.A. coach Chuck Knox needs help on a defense that led the NFC in first downs allowed.

Kansas City, 30—Tampa Bay, 14

Quick, which team will be the sentimental favorite to win another Super Bowl for a certain legendary quarterback? That's asking too much, but hey, K.C. was good before Joe Montana arrived.

Miami, 32—Indianapolis, 17

The Colts pulled off a 31-20 upset in Miami last season — and then Miami returned the favor in Indianapolis, 28-0. Seven wins will make Don Shula the winningest coach in NFL history.

Minnesota, 28—L.A. Raiders, 21

These two teams have met every three years since 1978, and the Raiders have won four of those five games. Jim McMahon might make a perfect Raider, but will he work as a Viking?

New Orleans, 26—Houston, 22

Having spent eight months stewing over their stunning overtime loss to Buffalo in the AFC wild-card playoffs, the Oilers will be out for blood, but the Saints at home are the better team.

Philadelphia, 29—Phoenix, 16

Philadelphia got as far as the NFC divisional playoffs last season before losing to Dallas, and along the way the Eagles beat the hapless Cardinals twice, 31-14 and, in a defensive fight, 7-3.

San Diego, 26—Seattle, 10

Before the Chargers got stomped by Miami in the second round of the '92 AFC playoffs, they looked nearly unstoppable. West cellar dweller Seattle was twice a victim, 17-6 and 31-14.

San Francisco, 27—Pittsburgh, 24

This shapes up as a great game, between the NFL's best regular-season team in '92 (S.F.) and one that's still exploring its potential (Pittsburgh). They last met in '90, the 49ers winning 27-7.

Dallas, 31—Washington, 26

(Monday) Make no mistake: The Redskins were better than their 9-7 record indicated last year, splitting their two games with the Cowboys. But Jimmy Johnson simply will not allow Dallas to let up.

Hawks and Rocks seek first win

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Friday night high school football action will see Hancock High and St. Stanislaus each seeking their first victory of the season.

Hancock High will play host to George County in Hawk stadium, while Stanislaus will travel to Oak Grove in the Hattiesburg area.

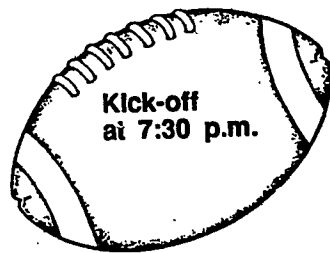

Sizing up George County, Hawk head coach Irvin Favre said, "They are a very aggressive and large team. Even though they lost last week to St. Martin, a team picked by many as the top in our District, we have to improve our kicking game over last week," Favre said.

George County's line on both offense and defense from tackle to tackle, has no one under 220 pounds, Favre said.

"In preparation for Friday's game, we are going to try in practice to improve on our weaknesses last week," Favre added.

Favre did feel his squad played well against Biloxi, considering it is a 5A team.

He said, "We lost by only one point and I feel if we can get a good effort like last week, we can be very competitive in every game this season."

Stanislaus' foe this week, Oak Grove, defeated Vancleave 46-15 last Friday.

Rock head coach Ken Lyons, who was disappointed about his team's performance last Friday, said his squad is working hard to correct last week's mistakes, especially on defense.

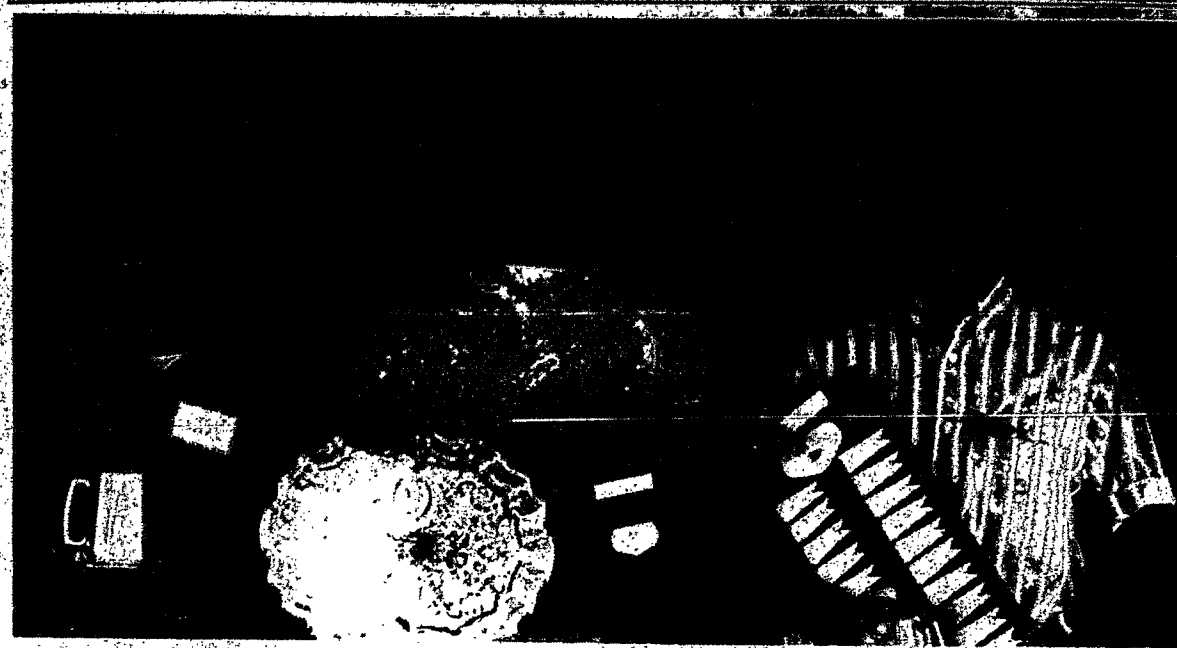

Lyons reported Oak Grove has a strong ground game, fair passing offense and sturdy defense.

"We moved the ball on offense last week and are spending most of our time this week sharpening our defense," Lyons said.

Schools exchange films of the previous game with their upcoming opponents and these are studied by the respective coaches.

The Tigers of Bay High have an open date this Friday and will return to action on Sept. 10 against the Pirates in Pass Christian.

Favre and Lyons are expecting good fan support Friday and kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

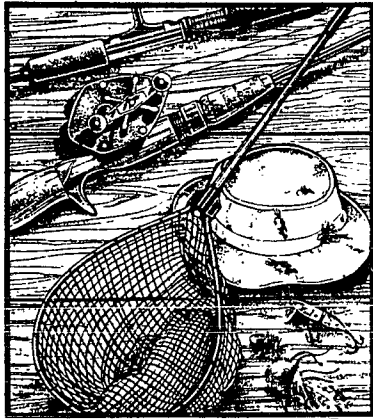

Watch out for "bent hooks"

It's time to go fishin' y'all. OK, it's this way. You say that you are not catching fish. You have gone to several locations and have not come back with your limit of trout and reds.

You have used the correct bait, you have fished at the correct depth using the right size hook and still you can't come home with a big mess of fish.

Now, it is true that most fishermen have been getting quite a few bites, but the big ones always seem to get away.

Well, to solve this problem, the Turtle launched an intensive investigation all along the Coast. His questions were well thought out and quite comprehensive in their meaning and scope.

supper. He claims that he had to eat the bait for supper. You see, that is another good reason why you should use live bait, if you don't catch any fish you can always eat the bait.

Anyway, Robby Asher said the fish were hard to find until he got to a small lake way back in the bayou. At that lake he was able to catch some school trout.

The Bayou Biloxi area has produced some nice catches of fish, but it is hit and miss. You gotta keep moving around till you find the fish.

In this area you also need to have a good tidal flow or the fish seem to want to go to sleep and they will not bite unless there is a good movement of water to keep them awake.

To emphasize the point about tidal movement, one boat came into LaFrance with the limit of trout and a mixed bag of flounders and reds. They claimed the fish started to bite about one hour after the change of tide and quit biting about an hour later. They felt sure the fish must have had a stop watch to be so punctual.

Reports are still coming in of nice catches of flounders all along the shoreline from the mouth of Bayou Caddy to Heron Bay. These flounders are being caught by utilizing an electric trolling motor to slowly work the shoreline.

The preferred method seems to be to get about good casting distance from the grass and work with sparkle beetles in tandem. Best results have been obtained by bouncing the beetles off the bottom on the retrieve back to the boat.

The Hablo Espanol fish are back. I have several reports of them being caught at the fishin' piers. Some of the mackerel have gone up to five pounds. These hard fighting fish are being caught mostly on live shrimp off of the piers. I do have some reports of them being caught on artificials out by Half Moon and Grassy islands.

Wade fishin' in the surf has slowed down quite a bit. I would guess that it has something to do with the temperature of the water. It seems that Mother nature forgot to give the fish air conditioning.

This means that the fish are only in the shallow waters of the surf early in the morning and late in the afternoon. I guess this means that the fish in the surf are skipping their noon time meals in favor of only breakfast and supper when the sun is cooler.

I have noticed that most of the biggest trout are caught in the 30 minutes right before dark. It is very hard to see your cork at this time so the best method seems to be to just have steady slow pressure on your line so that you can feel the fish when he hits your bait.

Full moon this week. This means that you need to eat plenty of garlic, to protect yourself from the vampires, if you decide to go out after the flounders that are all over the shallow waters.

This week's wonderful wise words: Watch out for bent hooks.

Dull bent hooks are "more worser," Turtle.

After hundreds of inquiries, maybe even thousands, the Turtle found the answer to the dilemma of not catching enough fish — "bent hooks."

The problem of "bent hooks" was brought up, without fail, by virtually every fisherman that the Turtle questioned. It seems that there is an extraterrestrial conspiracy to keep fishermen from catching "the big one."

The extraterrestrials that hatched this plot have gone to all of the fishing tackle manufacturers and fixed their equipment so that they can only turn out bent hooks. If you don't believe that this is true: I ask you, have you ever seen a hook that was not bent?

There, the Turtle told you it was a conspiracy. The next time that the big one gets away, you now have the reason that he got away — "bent hooks."

Thereport this week seems to indicate that the fishermen are having mixed results. I say this because some folks tried some spots that have proved to be very productive in the past few weeks and struck out completely.

Robbie Asher told me that he got the reports of good fishing in the Bayou Biloxi area and beat feet over there with the intention of catching enough fish for DeNiese Barnette's pastel dove mints rest in a fluted 'marble' candy dish. After the last mint is eaten...so is the dish.

Her intricate creations in chocolate are all meant to be eaten. Above, a hollow conch shell can hold a mouse for an elegant dessert; three types of 'candy dishes' and a chocolate basket hold other small delicacies. Upper right, a semi-solid white chocolate champagne bottle features a chocolate label; below, a chocolate piano complete with bench opens up to display tiny chocolate music notes; left, a graceful swan brims with sweet treats.

Coliseum the site of annual Blues Fest

St. Rose Choir, Murphy, Fisher among local entertainers featured

The Mississippi Coast Coliseum has released a list of entertainers scheduled to perform at the third annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Blues festival September 11, in Biloxi.

The festival will have several performers from previous years, as well as bringing new and exciting acts to this year's event.

Returning for an encore are St. Rose de Lima Gospel Choir, Pat Murphy Band, Perfect Image, Pearl, Clarence Carter, Jerry Fisher and the Music Company, and Blues Boy Willie.

Acts performing for the first time include The Boltons, Apollo Blues Band, Shirley Brown, Ride on Blues Band, the Shepard Boys, and the Libby Watson Band.

The festival will be held on the grounds of the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and will feature three different stages.

In addition to great blues music, merchandise vendors will have booths on the grounds and food vendors will offer a variety of regional and ethnic dishes such as barbecue, jambalaya, seafood delights and favorites like pizza, hamburgers and hot dogs.

The festival, which is being sponsored by PBI Plasma Donation Centers, The President Casino and Coors Beer, is a co-promotion of the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Part of the proceeds from the event will go to various local charities selected by members of the Blues Commission. Organizations that have benefited in the past from the Blues Festival are the Gulfport Schools Mentorship Program, the Family Life Ministry of St. Theresa Catholic Church, Gulf Coast Women's Center Rape Crisis Program, Boys and Girls Club of Jackson County, South Mississippi AIDS Task Force, and the Biloxi Rescue Mission.

The first 1,000 tickets are being sold for $12.50 plus TicketMaster fee. All remaining tickets will be sold for $14 plus the TicketMaster fee. Tickets are available at the Coliseum Box Office and all TicketMaster outlets. The festival gates will open at 10 a.m. and the entertainment will last until midnight. Visitors are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets to sit on;

however, absolutely no coolers and outside food will be allowed on the Coliseum grounds.

Volunteers needed at MMA/Gulf Coast

Fall will be a busy season at the Mississippi Museum of Art/Gulf Coast, and assistance is needed in several areas:

Artists and Craftsmen, Storytellers and Musicians:

Demonstrators who enjoy sharing their skills with children and adults are being sought to volunteer their services on several occasions, including:

—A Brush with Art — Sat., Sept. 25, 10-2. A unique children's art festival. Co-sponsored by Biloxi Main Street. Participating artisans may also offer their work for sale.

—Arts Cafe — A weekly art lecture and demonstration for adults, throughout the year.

—Annual George Ohr Festival — Sat., Nov. 20, all day. Exhibitors and demonstrators needed.

Volunteers with Children and Adults: As the museum broadens its scope of services, volunteers — called docents in museum jargon — are being sought who particularly are interested in working in the following areas:

—Children's Tours & Hands-on Activities — Weekdays and weekends, as needed. —Activities for children and adults with special needs.

—Museum Sales Gallery, on a regularly scheduled basis.

New volunteers will work with long-time docents during the development of this year's programs. With sufficient demand, a junior volunteer program will also be considered.

For more information, call Marjorie Gowdy, director, 374-5547.

Bay-Waveland sailors recognized

Family schedule can make life less hectic

It's only a few weeks into the school year and already the kids are tired and fussy, Mom's skipping breakfast to iron Suzy's favorite dress and Dad's leaving the house earlier than usual to avoid the hassle. Sound familiar?

Scenarios like this are not unusual this time of the year, says a licensed marriage and family therapist at The University of Mississippi. "When families change routines they tend to go with the flow, until sooner or later the stress factor begins to cause problems," says Dr. Karen Mitchell.

Families have two choices, says the assistant professor: struggle along with no organization or schedule the family routine.

"Families tend to get the false idea that routines and schedules turn us into robots, trapping us and stifling our creativity. The truth is that if we are on a schedule, we can relax more and our minds can be more creative, knowing when and how things are going to be handled."

Mitchell suggests tackling traditionally troublesome areas first and offers these tips to help families get started:

—Involve the entire family with the decision to establish a schedule and work out chores for everyone.

"If you keep everyone informed, they're more willing to go along and do their part," she advised.

—Set a bedtime for children and stick with it. Not only do children need their rest but parents need to spend some time together. Work the evening routine around bedtime, scheduling homework, dinner, baths and time to relax. Keep the morning routine less stressful by lining up clothes the night before.

—Post schedules where everyone can see them.

"Young children seem to like lists," said Mitchell. "You might want to make a daily checklist; that's sometimes fun and helpful besides."

—Don't overlook problem areas such as grocery shopping and meal planning.

"Set a certain time on a certain day of the week for bothersome chores and try to coordinate and simplify. For example, shop in categories according to planned weekly menus."

—Keep the routine flexible enough not to be boring.

"If a 6-year old changes her mind and decides to wear red shoes with her pink outfit, don't make a big deal out of it," suggested Mitchell.

Gaudin Memorial Award

Homework help is on the way

A Homework Hotline to assist local students with answers to homework questions will be operational beginning September 7.

Teachers or interested persons are needed to man the hotline on a rotating basis Monday through Thursday from 4 until 8 p.m. For more information, call Theresa Braud, 467-2446.

Uram captures fourth in US Sailing Rolex Junior Championships

Alan Uram, 14, of Bay St. Louis, sailed to a fourth-place finish at the 1993 US Sailing/Rolex Junior Championship for the Bemis Trophy.

Uram crewed for skipper David Dabney, 16, of Mobile, Ala., while representing US Sailing Area D and Buccaneer Yacht Club. The duo raced a 420 in the doublehanded division for the Bemis Trophy.

The 1993 US Sailing/Rolex Junior Championships, hosted by Texas Corinthian Yacht Club, concluded Friday, August 20, with one last race on Galveston Bay.

The annual ten-race series serves as the finals of a season-long ladder championship to determine the top juniors in singlehanded, doublehanded and triplehanded competition. Fifty-seven of the nation's best sailors, all of whom qualified to compete by winning at least two previous challenges in their own regions, battled it out over five action-packed days in record-breaking triple-digit heat and breezes that ranged from four to 14 knots.

The 1994 event is scheduled for August in Charleston, S.C. in Lasers, 420s, and J/24 keelboats. Associated sponsors Sunfish/Laser Inc. and Vanguard Racing Sailboats will again provide boats.

Mini-camps for educators offered

Three teacher mini-camps offered for elementary and secondary educators by Gulf Coast Research Laboratory were recently approved by the State Department of Education for two continuing education units (CEUs) credit. The mini-camps are co-sponsored by GCRL and the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium. "Wetlands and Maritime Forest" and "Beach and Barrier Island" will be offered this fall. The other mini-camp, "Chandeleur Islands," is scheduled for May 1994.

"Beach and Barrier Island" will be offered Sept. 29-Oct. 1 at GCRL's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi, with lodging provided on GCRL's main campus in Ocean Springs.

This mini-camp will provide an overview of the beach, salt marsh, barrier island, estuarine and open sea environments of the northern Gulf of Mexico.

Field sessions include instruction and hands-on experience in collecting and identifying estuarine and deeper water species aboard one of the GCRL research vessels; seining, sieving and beachcombing identification on a Mississippi barrier island; and taking and comparing water quality parameters on the northern side of the Gulf of Mexico side of a barrier island.

Indoor sessions involve a hands-on session with horseshoe crabs, a microscopic look at plankton, fish biology and dissection instruction, beachcombing identification, and a tour of habitat interpretation throughout the water cycle.

"Wetlands and Maritime Forest," scheduled for Oct. 6-8, will be headquartered at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park campus in Long Beach.

This mini-camp involves a hands-on exploration of plants that signal habitat changes in the water cycle from fresh to brackish to saltwater. A canoe trip is planned to compare water parameters and to identify plants within freshwater and estuarine ecosystems. Plants will be identified during a hike through a maritime forest, and specimens will be classified and pressed for classroom collections.

Sea Grant is providing scholarships to offset part of the $140 charge for "Beach and Barrier Islands" and "Wetlands and Maritime Forest" which covers instructional costs, lodging and most meals during each three-night, two-day program. All GCRL teacher mini-camps qualify for reimbursement under the Dwight D. Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Education Act for participating school district.

Educators should contact the MEC&A at 374-5550 for more information.

Troop 208

The Bay St. Louis Fire and Police Departments recently hosted a field trip for Boy Scout Tiger Cub Troop 208. Firefighter Louis Prendergast demonstrated the fire hose and other equipment, while Officer Don Ocho introduced the boys to McGruff the Crime Dog. Participating were Justin Fayard, Zachary Delany, Jeremy Burks, Edward Prendergast, Bud Dorn, Christopher Polit and leader Jude Ferry.

Breeden graduates from USC

Joan Marie Breeden recently graduated from the University of South Carolina with a master of science in nursing and a master of public health in public health administration.

Amtrak return is theme of annual Stamp Club show

The Gulf Coast Stamp Club hosts the 20th annual Gulfplex stamp show at the Airport Holiday Inn, Hwy. 49, Gulfport on Labor Day weekend, Sept. 4 and 5.

The 1993 show theme is "Welcome the Return of Amtrak to the Mississippi Gulf Coast." The addition of the Sunset Limited running from Miami to Los Angeles is the first passenger train to run coast to coast without a change.

A souvenir show cover with an artistic sketch of the Sunset Limited crossing a bridge over a marsh where a large egret is feeding will be available. Also featured is a locally designed special cancel depicting the Amtrak logo and the Biloxi Lighthouse with black skimmers flying.

The U.S. Postal Service will have a sub-station at the show with a variety of postage stamps, stationery and the new water fowl hunting permit (duck stamp). All mail processed at the Holiday Inn Saturday and Sunday will be cancelled with Gulfplex Station Amtrak/lighthouse date stamp. Fourteen stamp dealers from Florida to Texas will be at the show.

A souvenir award winning program with articles on the stamp club and Amtrak will be presented to all who visit the show, also free Amtrak caps until they run out to all the young collectors.

The show hours are 9 to 5 Saturday and 9 to 4 Sunday. Admission is free. For information call 435-1638.

Barnette

Gary Barnette, trained under her sister, who was a chocolate supplier to several large hotels in California. "I went out there for a two-week vacation and ended up staying six weeks," she commented.

Using plastic molds, the secret to success lies in keeping the chocolate the right temperature—and working very quickly once the mold is poured, shaken and gently removed after five minutes to a half hour, depending on the design.

Molds can be custom made, as in a school crest or company logo. Barnette has also designed free-form desserts. "Really, you are only limited by your imagination," she added.

Her daughter Elisha, 12, who is a sixth grader at Coast Episcopal Elementary, also has "the knack" and has helped on several occasions to fill large orders.

Last year Elisha's teachers received chocolate sleighs filled with other delectable treats for Christmas.

Barnette's fledgling business, Le Chocolatier, is on the verge of expanding—although she "doesn't want to get too big too fast."

The Diamondhead resident will attend a national candy trade show in Philadelphia next week.

Adult literacy classes to begin at library

The Adult Education Literacy Program of Hancock County, a project of the Hancock County Public Library System, will begin classes teach basis remedial/literacy services to aid participants in achieving a specific job and/or education related goal leading to job placement.

Wednesday, September 8, for returning students, and Monday, September 13, for new students.

Tutor orientation will be Thursday, September 2, at 10:30 a.m., and Wednesday, September 8, at 6 p.m. All returning tutors will attend, and anyone interested in tutoring is welcome to attend one of these meetings.

Classes are designed to

The Adult Literacy Program's primary site is the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue, with satellite tutoring offered at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis and the Kiln Library on Highway 603.

More information on the program may be obtained by calling Donna Hutchings at the Waveland Library at 467-9240.

Hancock Bank appoints six officers

Six new officers were appointed at Hancock Bank on Aug. 12. The announcement was made by the bank's board of directors following their monthly meeting.

Delma L. Powell Jr. was named assistant loan officer. Powell joined the bank in 1989 assigned to indirect lending. In 1992 he transferred to the Bay 90 branch as a loan maker and later that year transferred to the Diamondhead branch.

He was recently named manager of the bank's new loan center, Loan-By-Phone.

A native of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., he holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and has completed numerous AIB courses.

Powell is president of the American Institute of Banking, Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter, a member of the Orange Grove Kiwanis Club, and serves on the administrative board of the Main Street Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Sharon Janet was promoted to administrative assistant. Janet joined the bank in 1978 as a teller at the Pass Christian branch and later transferred to branch administration.

She was promoted to head teller at the Diamondhead branch in 1982 and in 1989 was transferred to her current position in the Commercial Loan Department as a loan closer.

Janet attended Phillips Junior College and has completed numerous AIB courses.

In other appointments:

Sandy Talley was promoted to assistant branch officer. Roderick N. Walker was named assistant operations officer.

Angela Y. Woodcock was promoted to administrative assistant.

Diana T. Young was named administrative assistant.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Mississippi retirees can look forward to lower state taxes

By Janet K. Lukens, MBA, CFP

Area Consumer Money Management Specialist

Retirees may currently feel concern over new federal income taxes, but they can look forward to a positive change on state tax.

Federal income taxes on up to 85% of Social Security income will certainly be felt by those retirees affected.

Couples with incomes above $44,000 and individuals with income above $34,000 will see taxable Social Security income increase from 50% to 85% of Social Security benefits.

However, state income taxes for many retirees will be reduced effective January 1, 1994. Qualified retirement benefits will be exempt from Mississippi income tax. The exemption will apply to virtually all retirement income sources.

According to Deputy Tax Commissioner Lester C. Herrington of the State Tax Commission's revenue Department:

"This includes retirement allowances, pensions, annuities or other retirement allowances paid by any public or governmental retirement system, or any private retirement system or plan."

"Retirement income includes pensions, annuities, qualified retirement plans, profit sharing plans, individual retirement accounts, IRC Section 401(k) plans, IRAs, SEPs, tax-sheltered annuity contracts, modified endowment contracts, insurance contracts, etc."

"Exempt income is identified by its qualification under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 as Amended. Retirement income subject to federal tax on early distributions (IRC Section 72) is not exempt."

This state income tax exemption applies not only to the primary beneficiary of the retirement account income, but also to the spouse or other beneficiary upon the death of the primary recipient.

The change came as a result of several years of deliberations related to state tax treatment of retirement income.

From 1952 to 1990, income received from the Public Employees' Retirement System was totally exempt from Mississippi income tax. Retirees receiving income from most other sources were limited to exempting $5,000 of their retirement income.

In 1990, the amount of retirement income exempted was standardized to apply equally to all retirees. The maximum exemption for all retirees from 1990 through 1993 was $6,000.

Federal Social Security income and Railroad Retirement (SSEB Tier 1) income were exempt prior to the change in state tax law and remain exempt.

Wireless coupler reduces shipyard costs

Researchers at the Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) Stennis Space Center, recently proved the feasibility of a wireless shipboard coupler. This coupler replaces expensive cabling that, for test purposes, is temporarily installed through water-tight bulkheads aboard surface ships and submarines.

Traditionally, collection of test data on new and modified ships has required the temporary installation of hundreds of signal cables throughout the ship. Many of these cables connect compartments which, for safety, must maintain their ability to be water-tight.

Thus, cables interconnecting these compartments must be passed through special water-tight bulkhead penetrators—a very costly shipyard job.

Researchers in the Ocean Technology Branch decided that a better way was needed to collect the test data. C. Randy Holland, section head, approached the Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA) to see if they would be interested in sponsoring the effort. Because of the great potential for reducing test installation costs, NAVSEA agreed to provide funding.

After reviewing a wide variety of techniques, the team settled on an electric current injection method suggested by Dr. Francis B. Grosz Jr., that produces a "wrap around" magnetic field. According to Ronald T. Miles, project team leader, this method injects a 1.0 Megahertz current into the steel plating adjacent to a water-tight door, hatch, or other gasketed bulkhead penetration.

The injected current flows as a surface or "skin effect" current, wrapping around the edge of the bulkhead opening and passing underneath the water-tight gasket. This current creates a weak magnetic field on the other side of the bulkhead which can be detected and amplified for transmission onto the next bulkhead.

By adding additional data (multiplexing) onto the coupler's high frequency carrier as it passes through each compartment, data can be collected throughout the ship. "By this means data can be transmitted across bulkheads at rates up to 1.0 megabytes per second without the need to install special penetrators for cables," said Miles.

This technique is also immune to noise sources that could interfere with desired data signals, can be readily adapted to a typical shipboard compartment, and can be installed/removed in minutes with minimal repair work.

Although NRL is concerned with research needs for the U.S. Navy, Miles sees commercial uses for the coupler as well. Because these devices can be easily attached to steel structures, communication links could be quickly established in emergency situations where people have been isolated—collapsed buildings, mines or power plants, for example.

The development team of Miles, Grosz, Holland and Sean R. Giffin, while awaiting approval of the patent for the coupler, continue to work on refining the coupler's capabilities.

Remel earns certification

Phillip J. Remel of Bay St. Louis recently demonstrated professional competency by successfully completing the Certified Arborist examinations administered through the International Society of Arboriculture (ISA) and the Southern Chapter of the ISA.

The purpose of the ISA certification program is to improve the level of knowledge and standard of practice within the tree care profession.

The International Society of Arboriculture is a scientific and educational organization devoted to the dissemination of information in the care and preservation of shade and ornamental trees.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S SALE
 WHEREAS, on the 19th day of December, 1991, Dr. E. L. Lenoir, Jr., executed a Land Deed to Trust to Lyle M. Page, as Trustee for the benefit of THE PEOPLES BANK, which Land Deed of Trust is now of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, in Book 361, at Page 40, of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Lands of said County; and

WHEREAS, the above described Deed of Trust provides for Substitution of Trustee in place of the named one therein, THE PEOPLES BANK did name, constitute, and appoint LARRY L. LENOIR, as Substituted Trustee; and said Deed of Trust is the one and same as recorded in Book 392 Page 692, et seq., of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, default was made and now exists in the payment of the indebtedness secured by said Land Deed of Trust; and

WHEREAS, THE PEOPLES BANK, as owner and holder of said Land Deed of Trust and the indebtedness secured thereby has exercised the option contained in said Land Deed of Trust and declared the entire indebtedness secured thereby immediately due and payable, and have called upon the undersigned Substituted Trustee to execute the trust therein contained, and requested that the undersigned Substituted Trustee sell said property under the provisions of the Land Deed of Trust for the purpose of satisfying the debt thereby secured and unpaid, together with attorney's fees and the expenses of the execution of the trust and of the selling of said property.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, the undersigned Substituted Trustee, LARRY L. LENOIR, do hereby give notice that on Friday, the 17th day of September, 1993, during the legal hours, I will proceed to sell by public auction, at the public outcry, to the highest and best bidder for cash at the main front door of the Hancock County Courthouse in Hancock County, Mississippi, all improvements located thereon situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 25, 28 and 27, Block 4, HIGHLAND SUBDIVISION, First Ward, City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per the official Plat of said subdivision on file in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.

The undersigned Substituted Trustee will convey only such title as is vested in me as Substituted Trustee.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE on this, the 20th day of August, 1993.
